Louise Page loves soccer more than ... well, almost anything! So how can it be that after all her practicing, planning, and dreaming, she isn't an instant star-of-the-season? Louise's disappointment makes her a little crabby and a little jealous--and more determined than ever to get back in the game! Will Louise's innovative training-through-yardwork turn the tide? Or will she find inspiration in her studies of Olympian gods and goddesses? As she puts her mind, head, and feet to the task, Louise's game plan turns out to be full of surprises! Stephen Krensky welcomes new and returning readers to this funny, fast-paced story of sports and friendship--the third in his popular series created especially for children ready for that next step after easy-readers.
